ROOSEVELT WINS NOMINATION

EARL OF EDMONT HAS RETURNED

SIAM TO HAVE A CONSTITUTION

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Governor of New York, was chosen overwhelming on July 1st, as the Democratic nominee for the United States Presidency. With the force of a real stampede he swept the nomination, defeating the other two candidates with a majority of the votes. Roosevelt's nomination was the result of the other two's withdrawal from the race and turned loose their votes into the swelling Roosevelt column. He was declared nominee on the fourth ballot.

The 18-year-old Earl of Edmonton has returned to his ranch at Priddis, Alberta, after spending four years at the Avon Castle in England. He has not yet stated whether he would return to the Old Country, or remain in Canada, but next to him, I believe that he will choose the latter course and open his half section ranch at Priddis. His half section of the ranch, which he has had all his life was one of misery and discontent, not being used to the ways of the nobility. To crown this disaster his father was killed in a motor accident, and Jonlins will have to bear without friends.

The young man became Earl on his father's death, and inherited a million dollar estate.

The House of Commons in England has adopted the government's measure empowering tariffs on goods from the United States. The measure does not impose the actual tariff, but it gives the government power to impose new duties up to 100 per cent ad valorem as it considers desirable in its present financial condition. The delayed mail annuls from the Irish Free State. Should President De Valera put his bill into effect to abolish the oath and not pay the annuls, the Irish Free State will probably find its mail closed to Britain under the new cent tariff.

Siam, one of the few remaining absolute monarchies in the world, had a quite orderly well-organized revolution, and made a quick change from an absolute to a constitutional monarchy. The revolution was carried off by the army, and not by the people, and was not directed at "against the king, but against the king's officials of the army, navy, and state, and against the principle of absolute monarchy. The army marched into Bangkok, the capital, and took the leading princes and government officials into custody.

One casualty was reported—the chief of the army staff, who resisted arrest, and was killed. King Prajadhipok and Queen Rambai were at the sea when the revolution took place. A gun boat was sent to bring them to the capital. The King was asked to continue as a constitutional monarch, and accepted the terms. He was enthusiastically received by the people.

King Prajadhipok was considered "western." He and the Queen were in North America for several months in 1920-31, when the king had his eyes treated, and an operation for cataract. The King and Queen left Canada through Canada and stopped at Banff for three weeks last June. He told interviewers in this country that it was his intention to grant his country a constitutional government as soon as possible. He has been told that he must have ready without telling him until it was time to sign on the dotted line. However, it looks as if everything will be ship shape in Siam soon under the new system of government.

SWALWELL TO HAVE TELEPHONE EXCHANGE CLOSED SOON

According to a recent report from Swalwell, the telephone exchange of that town will soon be closed. Swalwell, however, will not be without telephone service. They will be booked up with a radio station.

The closing of the Swalwell exchange is a measure of economy now being practised by the Alberta Government Telephone.

SILM WATRON, HOLDER OF THE PRINCE OF WALES TROPHY, HURTS

Silm Watron of High River, Alberta, champion of the province, had the misfortune to break his leg at the Sundre Stampede when his mount lashed out while in the chute, breaking his leg. The injured rider, received a bad cut at the Olds hospital. The saddle iron had accidently hit him, so that he won't be able to take part in the Calgary Stampede this year. Good Progress Being Made In Extraction Of Radium From Great Bear Lake Pitchblende Investigation into the treatment of the Great Bear Lake pitchblende is now being actively carried on by the Ore Testing Division of the Mines Branch, Department of Mines, Ottawa, under Mr. W. B. Timm, Chief of the Division. It is believed that progress is very satisfactory, and a marketable headway has been made, considering the nature of the investigation and the small staff available for the work.

An extensive investigation of all the known processes, Mr. Timm states, was work confined during February and March to one which seemed to be the most adaptable to the treatment of this particular ore. Now, the investigation has been carried on small laboratory scale work to pilot-plant scale, and some small trial runs have given encouraging results.

The pilot-plant is now in operation, taking in approximately one-tenth the size of an ordinary commercial unit, calculated to give all the data with respect to operations and costs of a full size unit.

Extraction of radium from the ore has been well over 90 per cent, the last test made giving 97-98 per cent. This, however, is on one type of ore and, as the process is entirely new, there is, as yet, no other data to give variations in treatment and may not give such good results. No results, therefore, can be released for publication until all types of ore from the various provinces have been thoroughly tested, and a satisfactory treatment worked out which can be embodied in a commercial treatment plant.

For some years only high grade pitchblende will be shipped from the Great Bear Lake. The ore contains about 40 per cent uranium oxide. Later, the cobalt rejects and low grade ore will, doubtless, be concentrated at the mine to shipping grade, and the low grade ore will be treated from the most favourable position from the standpoint of the cost of chemicals. As it takes three tons or more of acid to the ton of ore, the advantage of shipping the ore to a refinery of chemicals will be readily seen.

Lost there by any misunderstanding as to the meaning of the word concentration when spoken of in the treatment of the ore, the extraction of radium is to be pointed out that the concentration of the radium is distinct from the concentration of the pitchblende in the ore. The latter will, no doubt, be done at the mine while it is being processed for shipping.

Floral Barometer Is Unique

One in Victoria Park, London, Ontario

A floral barometer has been laid out in Victoria Park, London, Ont., and under test it worked. It is believed to be unique among flower beds of Canada. It records accurately each day the weather, predicting the next day's change in weather. It has two floral hands, one stationary, and the other moving. The words "stormy," "rain," "change," "fall" and "dry" are on the outer edge of a contrasting colored paper, the pressure numbers from 26 to 31, inclusive, are also shown in floral design.

Elk Island Park
Elk Island National Park, Canada's second largest animal reserve, is within the boundaries of Edmonton, Alberta. The buffalo in Elk Island Park are unusually fine specimens of their kind. The pelage is particularly dark and the horns are well developed. They are not as wild as when they were originally captured, but it is inadvisable for visitors to go near them on foot, though they may be seen with safety in an automobile. Both the moose and elk in this sanctuary are also well developed specimens.

Could Guess Again

Shank stopped his motor car at a desolate crossroads and yelled to a farmer who was on a cart of fertilizer: "Hey, Cornish, is this the way to Crows?"

The farmer removed himself from the fertilizer in astonishment. "By heck, stranger, how did you know my name is Cornish?" he asked.

"I guessed it," said the motorist.

"Then, by heck," said the farmer as he drove on, "guess your way to Croydon."

Control of Tuberculosis

Medical Profession Claims Disease Can Be Eradicated in Civilized Communities

Dr. Norman Bethune of the Royal Victoria hospital, Montreal, told interviewers recently developments in the control of tuberculosis which have convinced the medical profession that the disease could be entirely eradicated in civilized communities where proper methods of control were applied.

Bethune said latest forms of treatment have definitely convinced him that opinion that climate was a factor in the disease. It is no longer necessary, he said, for persons suffering from tuberculosis of the lung to take a long trip in search of sun, shine and dry air.

Tuberculosis, he continued, is positively curable in cases where it is detected early, and even in cases where it has been of considerable progress in the lung.

Recently developed method of colapsing the affected lung by filling the chest wall with air pumped in through a tube has been improved by techniques for elimination of adhesions of the lung to the ribs or chest wall, he said.

Holiday Spoiled For New York Visitors

Found June Not Good Time for Skiing in Quebec

The green garb of summer may be a delight to some of Quebec's visitors but it was a pain in the neck to four young women from a small New York town who were spending a week in Quebec, getting into the uncontrolled laughter and grin of Quebec, the four vacation girls did their best to hide these pairs of brand new skills under a heavy load of snow. Natty winter sports costumes would not see the light of day either.

Appropriately equipped for two weeks in the bracing northern air of Quebec, the girls got a nasty shock when they found that a day's vacation was being spent in a cold, drizzling, drizzle mudding down under a warm summer sun.

Alberta Wheat Pool

Decision Made to Continue Under Present Marketing System

Alberta wheat pool will continue its present marketing system under its present marketing system, it was announced at Calgary.

Pool officials decided not to hold a special year this year among its membership "on alternate methods of marketing," the result being the damping of the movements of a forty-passenger airplane, "Hercules," flying overhead.

At a resolution passed at the annual meeting of the pool last fall it was suggested such a plebiscite be held. Directors, however, decided it was inadvisable to hold the vote at present.

Great Trouble Is That Unemployment Creates Unemployment

Gross earnings of Canadian railroads for March totalled $25,000,000, as against $24,000,000 in March of last year. But as operating expenses in March, 1931, were but $22,500,000, compared with $27,500,000 in March, 1930, the net position remains unchanged.

Many may ask how the railways could manage to get along in March of this year with $5,000,000 less of operating expenditure than in March, 1930. They may think that the railroads may have been waiting a lot of money last year, or spending it unnecessarily.

The real facts, perhaps unfortunately, are that the railroads, in March, 1931, had a number of railway engineers, citizens and towns, ensure it a maximum of use by the people of Manitoba and visitors to the park. Before the park was created, it has been the summer playground of people from all parts of the province. Its easy accessibility by rail or highway, and the fact that it has a great deal to offer in terms of beauty, makes it a favorite with many of the province's citizens and towns, ensure it a maximum of use by the people of Manitoba and visitors to the park.

That the circumstances being what they are, helped the railways. But it wasn't much of a help to Canadian business. The great trouble about unemployment is that it creates unemployment. Ottawa Journal.

Baroness Visiting Canada

Belgian Sportswoman Expects To Win Canoe More Than Gun

Rides, fishing rods and cameras form the main part of the equipment brought to Canada by Baroness C. N. B. Belgian sportswoman and amateur skier, who is here with a son and a pug in her hand, who has come this year for the purpose of "doing a lot of photography, perhaps getting a moose or two and fishing more than I can eat."

The Belgian countess admitted that she loved to hunt, fish and that she had some wonderful shooting during the past winter on her father's estate in Algeria. She is here to help in the Canadian journey, although she expected to do more work with a camera than with a gun.

"I hope to take quite a lot of pictures of moose and their babies, but I should like to be exceptionally animal, I may try to 'bag' him, if the season is open," declared the tall, slender woman, who looks more like a schoolgirl than a woman who has been hunting in Africa.

Baroness Buffin declared that she had not had a single close escape, and that adventure had not yet come her way.

Sugar Shortage In Russia

Reductions In Rations and Increase In Price

A serious sugar shortage has resulted in a reduction of the sugar ration from 3% pounds a month for each person to 1% pounds for the white collar class and two pounds for the workers in Moscow. Since the sugar ration has not been limited to 15 cents a pound in the Torgsin stores, which take only foreign money. In the ration stores the price remains unchanged at 21% cents a pound.

Some citizens of Moscow cannot buy candy despite the recent removal of confectionaries from the ration category, indicating that the candy manufacturers are feeling the shortage.

Housewives Need Sunshine

Old Sol's rays have taken a permanent place among the natural medicines. But it's the housewives, says physician, who are most likely to suffer from confinement and a lack of health-giving sunshine. They are advised to forget about wiping off those last few specks of dust on living room furniture—and even leave a bed or two unmade, if necessary—in order to get out in the fresh air in summer time.

New Idea For Speed

A method of nearly doubling the speed of water craft up to 50 feet in length by reducing resistance instead of increasing power was reported to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, meeting at Yale.

There was a substantial gain in the Prairie Provinces wool clip last year. Alberta clipped 4,551,000 lbs., Saskatchewan, 1,605,000 lbs., and Manitoba, 1,202,000 lbs. Total 7,361,000 lbs.

"My wife is always shrieking with pain." "Have you no remedy for it?" "Rather! I stop my ears with cotton wool."—Karikaturen, Oslo.

On a lofty plateau, 2,200 feet above sea level, which forms the summit of a luxuriant growth of forest and set with exquisitely clear lakes, lies Manitoba's great national park, Riding Mountain National Park. Hundreds of elk, bear, moose and marmots wild in its boundaries; wildfowl and beaver build their homes in its waters, which are a home to a great number of herds which once roamed the prairies of Manitoba, browse on the rich buffalo grass of its uplands. Here, Manitoba found its first really made its first years, long before the first settlers of the park were moved, it has been the summer playground of people from all parts of the province. Its easy accessibility by rail or highway, and the fact that it has a great deal to offer in terms of beauty, makes it a favorite with many of the province's citizens and towns, ensure it a maximum of use by the people of Manitoba and visitors to the park.

BRIEFLY TOLD

James W. Douglas, Edmonton, has been appointed stipendiary magistrate for the Northwest Territories.

Lady Eaton of Toronto, back in Canada, has an excellent time at school, and an interview in Wistrippe that Canada is doing too much worrying about the depression.

New York motorists paid approximately $3,000,000 during the past decade to have their cars take back to motorcycle road and drive the wrong direction on one-way streets.

An issue of the Canada Gazette contains a proclamation designating the Waterton Lakes National Park as a part of the Waterton-Glacier International Peace Park.

Canada stands third in the public ownership of railways. India is first, with 41,724 miles of road, Germany second, with 32,400, and Canada, 24,822, including federal, provincial and municipal.

Atlantic salmon eggs are being exchanged with the state of California by Dominion authorities for a corresponding amount of steelhead salmon eggs to be used in stocking British Columbia waters.

One hundred years ago in June, 1832, the Dominion of Canada extended the rights of citizenship to the Jews of the country. Jews all over the world celebrated the century of emanicipation.

The British battleship "Moorhen" was bombed by mistake by Chinese aeroplanes sent by General Chan Chai-Tong to recover a quantity of munitions from the Imperial Chinese Chak, rebel commander of the Cantonese navy, but she was not struck.

Union Drilling Company of Calgary will commence drilling for crude oil in the heart of Alberta's oil land where the oil was found 100 years ago. Vancouver capital is backing the venture and W. D. Marier, of Vancouver, is heading the company seeking crude oil.

Winnipeg screen girls at the Canadian Bay Amusement yards at Victoria, George McDonald, machinist, found an old coin of the reign of George the Third. The coin is thin and somewhat worn. Salvaging Lost Gold

Divers Are Bringing Up Ingots From Sunken Liner

Brest, France.—Thirty ingots of gold, valued at $1,000,000, were stowed away in the hold of a sunken salvage ship "Artiglio II." The divers, with recovered silver, dropped into the sea to fish up the rest of the $5,000,000 which went down with the liner "Egmont" four years ago.

The $1,000,000 which was clumped down on the "Artiglio's" decks represents four years of dogged labor against the power of the storms and sea. Two stout ships have been lost in the sea and the lives of 15 seamen.

Paris, France.—The French salvage company, which first discovered the location of the sunken liner "Egmont" from which $1,000,000 has been recovered by the salvage ship "Artiglio II," will claim part of the booty. Captain Jean Davy said in an interview with Paris-Midi, Paris newspaper.

More Prevalent in Cities

Common Cold Flourishes Best In Crowded Centres

That colds are associated with crowded cities public health officials have now accepted. Dr. William G. Smillie of Harrow, England, supports the supporting evidence. In four isolated communities colds are caught only from outsiders. Spitsbergen's case is especially impressive. The miners live in a community house, live and sleep in damp, hot barracks, work in drafts at temperatures below freezing, but catch no cold. When Dr. Smillie concludes that the common cold must be attributed to an infection and is probably to one that can never be seen under the microscope we naturally ask if there is no serum that will impart immunity. He holds no brief for such a serum, but the infection may perhaps be thus controlled. The primary cold seems to be unconquerable—the price we pay for swarming in cities.

A Perpetual Memorial

John Weller Superintended Work On Welland Ship Canal

John Loring Weller, who built the Welland Canal will be a perpetual memorial to his work. Few Canadians were familiar even with the name of the man who was in charge of the construction of the greatest engineering project in Canada, the Welland Canal of Canada. Yet it was Mr. Weller who was the head of the surveys, designs and carrying out of the work in 1825-1831. When work was resumed in 1819 after the war, it was Mr. Weller who was made consulting engineer. For the last few years he has been on pension from the Federal Government.

FAIR SUCCESS ATTENDS LABORS AT LAUSANNE

Lausanne.—Despite the pessimistic atmosphere of the past few days, the Lausanne Conference looks like achieving a measure of success in its gigantic task of solving the question of inter-governmental debts, though that has Europe on the verge of a crash.

"Although I am sorry to say I cannot report to you we are not in agreement at present, we have got I think agreements," Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, the chairman, guardedly commented at a meeting of the six principal powers at the conference.

These are the points on which all the principal powers, including France and Germany have finally agreed:

(1) Adjustment of inter-governmental war debts and reparations should take place in instalments and not all at once.

(2) Steps are necessary to ensure the stability of the German currency.

(3) The conference must end in something substantial and, so far as possible, final, although it is recognized a final settlement would be adopted at a world settlement which included the United States.

(4) The conference must end soon and the settlement must be such as will render possible restoration of confidence.

(5) Artificial transfers disturbing the international balance of accounts should only take place—if at all—by the normal operation of international commerce and should be limited to that capacity.

(6) Germany cannot pay at the present time.

Grasshopper Plague

Hope That Red Tick Would Abate
Unwarned

Winnipeg, Man.—Hope that the ticked that attacks crops of grasshoppers, would aid Dominion and Manitoba agricultural departments in the province's wheat belt of the worst grasshopper plague in 50 years, died today.

Norman Criddle, head of the federal government laboratory at Tresness, Man., said the little parasites attack adult grasshoppers and "about as much damage as a tick on a dog." If they were to attack the young hopers they would be able to materially check the grasshopper advance, he said.

Good news, however, is that the hopper outbreak in south Manitoba is the worst in the history of modern agriculture in western Canada, exceeded only by that which lasted from 1873 to 1875.

Free State Senate Passes Oath Measure

But Bill Almost Unrecognizable On Account Of Amendments

Dublin, Ireland.—The Free State senate passed the Republican Government's bill to abolish the oath of allegiance to the crown, but the measure has been amended so the bill is almost unrecognizable. As it stands, the abolition of the oath cannot be inserted in the constitution without a referendum.

"The government has no intention of accepting the measure in its present form," said Senator Joseph Connelly, member of the Free State delegation. "It would be the bill as it stands, the Dal Eiran, with the results that might be expected," he added.

This means the Dal may again postpone its original bill until after 18 months would become law before the senate.

The alternative is a general election in which the Republican Government would seek a concise mandate for abolition of the oath.

Crop Conditions

Improvement In Western Provinces Is Indicated In Government Report

Ottawa, Ont.—Canadian crop conditions are much improved in the western provinces and distinctly lower in the maritime and eastern Canada, as compared with last year. This statement is made in the government report on crop conditions issued June 28.

Western crops have maintained their position well, the report states, in a period of special rainfall and higher temperature. Likelihood of heavy damage from cutworms is now past but grasshoppers are still dangerous and will particularly damage crops in certain areas.

In some large areas rain is needed to prevent crop deterioration, but generally the present moisture supply is satisfactory.

To British Columbia, recent weather has been almost ideal with plenty of heat and rain. Hay is nearly completed. Cereal crops are looking fine.

Jack Miner Foundation

Raising Funds To Perpetuate Bird Sanctuary At Kingville, Ont.

Every person who has visited the Jack Miner bird sanctuary, reads of it and its accomplishments, naturally wonders "what will become of the place when Jack Miner is no more?" However, every citizen of Ontario and the United States will be pleased to know that the column of this paper that there has sprung into existence which is known as "The Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation." This organization has entered into a formal agreement with Toronto General Trust to accept contributions and bequests for the purpose of perpetuating the Jack Miner Sanctuary. The Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation, Inc., and at the death of present trustees, he has named the Premier of Canada and the President of the United States to be a committee of two to name their successors.

If you have been interested in the work Jack Miner has been carrying on, or practically his own expense, the better it is to let him know that you think the work of America should be devoted to that of let Jack Miner live, and he is still in the land of the living, that people of the continent appreciate his work, by contributing and remunerating him. Jack Miner Foundation, not only now but in their last will and testament or by a codicil to your will?

Provision has been made where Foundation, except gifts in any form such as real estate, bonds, buildings or cash, and the income from same to be used for upkeep, feed, and to otherwise care for the bird sanctuary.

Provision has also been made whereby one can endow his or her own farm and country estate and leave same to "The Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation, Inc." and it will be turned into a bird sanctuary with its upkeep guaranteed to the extent that it has been endowed by contributor.

Jack Miner says "I have no wife, no home and education and less bayonet-point compassion," and for the last few years he has concentrated on getting children to build and erect bird houses. For anyone who wants his contribution to be used for the bird sanctuary, a clause has been added to Foundation agreement, whereby a contributor can leave money to "The Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation, Inc." to be used along educational lines in schools, to educate youth to the value of bird life to the country; but contributor must specify in writing that same must be used by Foundation for the bird sanctuary. This is the chief reason for establishing the Foundation to raise funds by gifts, contributions, or bequests to maintain the Jack Miner Bird Sanctuary.

In the United States, the Jack Miner Guardian Trust, of Detroit, has been named the depository for all contributions made by United States citizens, and the public will be guided to the south of us are already doing their part, and it is hoped that people here in Canada, where sanctuary is located, will do their best, if not now, that they will remember the sanctuary in their wills in the form of a bequest.

There is an Advisory Board of some seventy-five men and women who have agreed to have their names to appear in connection with the Foundation. They not only say they endorse the plan, but it will be compulsory to render to this advisory board annual statements along with names of contributors in order to ensure that the Foundation functions as originally intended, and that money is not in any way spent injudiciously, and proper investments are made in non-taxable Government bonds.

With the Miner family planning to turn the Jack Miner Sanctuary over to "The Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation, Inc." one and all can rest assured that Jack Miner said to it that there were no weak spots in the legal set-up of the Incorporation, and he welcomes lawyers or judges to investigate the proposition for any interested persons. If there are any weak spots in it, Jack Miner wants to be corrected while he is in the land of the living, and before he turns his property over to such an organization.

Are you interested in seeing your money carry on this sanctuary, and this line of work here in Canada, created by Jack Miner? If so it is up to you to contribute or remember same in your will, or both. Will you do it?

Largest Horse In World

Twenty-One Hands High and Weight a Ton and Half

Weighing 2,950 pounds, a man on a large two and half, "Sillon B." pure white and perfectly formed, is probably the largest horse in existence. And he is the largest horse in existence.

The horse is now 12 years old and has outgrown his famous full brother, "Sillon," of an exactly opposite build.

The horse was born in the Van Winkle farm, 21 hands high, the tips of its ears being nine feet from the ground in natural posture. Averaged-sized horses like polo ponies beside him are nine feet high.

Five stalls were required to give him solid comfort during his growing time which his owner says is not over yet. When he was born he was a prime draught horse and he likes to be found around with a comb and brush. He was imported from France—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Robot May Prevent Panics

Science Has Produced Mechanical Counterpart Of Cool Headed Horse

The robot, mechanical counterpart of the cool-headed horse, can calm voice of dirks lessens collected for safety in time of fire, to distract the horse, it was necessary to tie him to his stall.

The story quickly spread, and Gitzlaff, the stable master, was called in to make a hit in their show. So they changed the folk song and fitted it with the words "The General's in an awful fix." When they had finished the violin solo, the one who was to be a fix if it was sung, according to them, decided to make the girl the heroine, and wrote a stanza about the unkindly Mademoiselle de Gitzlaff.

The song immediately caught on and was a smash hit.

As soon as a fire starts, and before the acrid fumes of smoke have time to reach the building, the robot turns to his stall and says,

"There is a fire, there is an emergency, but no immediate danger," booms a calm but commanding voice through concealed loudspeakers.

"You must leave the building. Leave your hats and coats and take your children in line. Steady now, don't rush. Follow the great arrows."

May Be Wrongly Blamed

Dime Novels Not Likely To Lead Boys Into Trouble

Once again dime novels are being blamed for leading boys into trouble. A fourteen-year-old lad who came from several burglaries at Bloorfield, Ontario, was reading a dime novel," the dispatch said, and this prediction is alleged to be responsible for his burglarious acts.

Frankly, we regard this as so much nonsense. All those who have ever read dime novels know perfectly well that there never was one book of the kind written yet in which virtue was not wholly and triumphantly victorious.

Boys never painted blacker, nor never vanquished with such thoroughness as it was in these gaudy, overwrought thrillers, which were read surreptitiously in the hay-loft, or between the covers of some more dignified tome. Gushy Mercury.

Sorry She Asked

They were visiting friends one evening. Presently their three-year-old son began to cry. The hostess noticed this, and gave him soft marshmallows to play with. During the course of play the ball rolled under the davenport, and the little fellow crawled in after it. Presently the hostess arose and said, "Get the ball."

He replied, "No."

"Then why don't you come out?"

"I'm drawing pictures on the floor."

A Famous War Song

"Mademoiselle From Armentières" Inspired by French Girl

The true story of a little French girl who slept in a garrison's tent and became the fair of all the boys in the world's heavyweight equine title.

Mademoiselle From Armentières" is related by Mr. Zo Elliott, the American composer, who is making a study of war songs for his operatic version of "War and Peace."

The song was inspired by a certain French girl in Armentières during the early part of the war, he says.

"The girl was nearer to 20 than 40, and as fair as virtuous as any girl in Paris," he said.

The money and bonds would be attached to the public treasury and the immovable property would belong to the state, the director said. He revealed a sum of $1,000,000 (about $1,000,000 worth of land property) and belonged to the deposit king, but to societies over which he presided.

With a strong box taken from the Royal Palace were found 150,000 francs in gold, 800,000 francs in bonds of private companies, and 11,500,000 pesetas in other securities.

The box also yielded a gold key which had been issued to the people of Andalusia and another to the people of Cadiz; five solid gold dollars of the Order of Tolosa de Oro, seals and jewelled cases. The seized property also included furniture, some of which, the treasury director said would go to schools and the rest to museums.

"YES, I AM 40 YEARS OLD!" says Irene Rich

"YES, I am 40 years old. I don't mind confessing it a bit," says Irene Rich, "and I have a grown daughter now. I am very happy. A screen star never wants to be old, but you know."

In her 40th year, she guards her complexion beauty above all else. She says you will notice that you look younger than you are.

How does this lovely star guard complexion beauty? Just as so many other stars do—by the use of the 694 important ones! "I have used Lux Toilet Soap regularly for years," says Irene, "and am very grateful for it."

Surely you will want to try this fragrant white soap. The comes of good—a-cake French soap for 10c!

IRENE RICH and her two daughters. Greta is to right, Frances, twenty-one, a year older than Irene, and Lee, fifteen. Irene is 40, and actually 40! (above). One of Miss Rich's recent photographs.

Once more the curtain had fallen, and to the hum of conversation suddenly released, the lights flashed up, being again over the auditorium. "—and suddenly the door of Lady Anne's box was opened from the corridor outside.

"May I come in?" said a voice—a pleasant voice with a gay inflection of laughter running through it, as though its owner had just come from his room. "I have come to see you, and striking-looking in his immaculate evening kit, his ruddy hair flaming wickedly under the electric lights, strode into the box.

He stopped all round, his glance slightly quizzical as it met Jean's and then Lady Anne presented him to the Comtesse de Varginy.

It almost seemed as though something, some mutual recognition of kindred spirit, flashed from the warm sun-kissed faces of the two young brown ones, and when a minute or two later, Burke established himself in the seat next to Jean, vacated by Nick, he murmured in a low tone:

"What did you find that Eastern looking woman? I feel convinced I could lose my heart to her without any effort."

Jeans could hardly refrain from smiling. This was her first meeting with Burke, and the occasion of the scene which had occurred in the little parlour at the "honeymooners' inn," and now he met roguish assurance as though nothing in the world, other than of a mutually pleasant and amiable nature, had taken place. It was helpless, Burke, she reflected helplessly.

"Then he had better go and make love to her," she suggested. "There happens to be a husband in the background, a little hypochondriac with quite charming manners, but I don't suppose you would consider that an obstacle."

"None," retorted Burke placidly. "I'm quite certain she can't be too good for her. Her taste would be more robust, I should say. Where is she stopping?"

"At Claridge's. We met her there this evening. I knew her in Switzerland."

"Well, you shall all come out to supper with me tomorrow—the Countess included."

Jean shook her head deprecatingly.

"I shall be all back at Staple tomorrow—the Countess excepted. You can take her."

"Then the supper must be tonight," replied Burke severely.

"What are you doing in town, anyway?" asked Jean. "Is Judith with you?"

"No. Came up to see my tailor"—Ironic smile.

He crossed the box to arrange matters with Lady Anne, and before the curtain rose on the last act it was settled that they should all have supper together.

Later, when Burke had once more resumed his seat next to Jean, Madame de Varginy, whose hearing, like her other senses, was preternaturally acute, caught a whispered plaint from inside Nick's ear by Lady Anne.

"Now isn't that provoking. Nick darling?" Why on earth need Geoffrey Burke have turned up in town on our last night?"

"If you and I were very discreet and efficacious ourselves—that Burke and Jean might settle things."

Madame de Varginy's eyes remained fixed upon the stage. There was no need to indicate that Lady Anne's plaintive murmur had at that moment supplied her with the key of the whole situation as it lay between Jean and the two men who were sitting one each side of her.

But the following evening, when the Staple party having left town, she and Burke were dining alone together at a little restaurant in Soho, knowledge she had gleaned bore fruit.

Burke never quite knew what impulse it was that had prompted him to invite her to dinner, but the dinner-party, to commence in Madame de Varginy's ear, "Dine with me tomorrow night!" It was as though the dark mysterious eyes had spoken to him, and he had been overcome by friendly overtures which the shrewdness of his acquaintances with their owners would not normally have inspired.

It was not until the coffee and cigarette stage of the little dinner had been completed that Burke addressed Madame de Varginy's ear. "So you come all the way up from this place, Coombe—Coombe Eave?"

"So to Miss Peterson, and here, here, here!"

"And you're here to see my tailor?"

"To see Miss Peterson, and here, here, here!"

"Burke stared at her almost rudely, the woman's perspicacity annoying him.

"I came up to see my tailor," he replied curtly.

"Madame de Varginy," she laughed—loud, melodious laughter, tinged with a frank friendliness of amusement which somehow smoothed away Burke's uneasiness. "Her hair is shiny, and she is smiling. To see your tailor, 'Naturellement!'"

But you were not sorry to encounter Miss Peterson also, here?" You vanished the next morning, here, here, here!"

Burke never quite knew what impulse it was that had prompted him to invite her to dinner, but the dinner-party, to commence in Madame de Varginy's ear, "Dine with me tomorrow night!" It was as though the dark mysterious eyes had spoken to him, and he had been overcome by friendly overtures which the shrewdness of his acquaintances with their owners would not normally have inspired.

It was not until the coffee and cigarette stage of the little dinner had been completed that Burke addressed Madame de Varginy's ear. "So you come all the way up from this place, Coombe—Coombe Eave?"

"So to Miss Peterson, and here, here, here!"

"And you're here to see my tailor?"

"To see Miss Peterson, and here, here, here!"

"Burke stared at her almost rudely, the woman's perspicacity annoying him.

"I came up to see my tailor," he replied curtly.

"Madame de Varginy," she laughed—loud, melodious laughter, tinged with a frank friendliness of amusement which somehow smoothed away Burke's uneasiness. "Her hair is shiny, and she is smiling. To see your tailor, 'Naturellement!'"

But you were not sorry to encounter Miss Peterson also, here?" You vanished the next morning, here, here, here!"

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER
CROP PRICE GUARANTY

77¢ WHEAT
for No. 1 Northern Winnipeg

Take advantage of this offer...
Get the new equipment you need to reduce your production costs

Many farmers who need new machinery for the economic production of their crops have been reluctant to buy them because of uncertainty as to the prices they will receive later in the year for these farm products.

In order to meet this situation, the International Harvester Company of Canada, Ltd., offers to farmers purchasing machinery after this date a definite price guarantee on wheat bought on certain bushels for No. 1 Northern at Winnipeg, applying to the liberal portion of the purchase price of the machine. If the market price for wheat does not reach the guaranteed price at the time payment becomes due on rates given and matures this year, the manufacturer will give a credit equal to the difference.

Any farmer in Canada, regardless of where he lives or what he raises, can purchase McCormick-Deering farm machines under the terms of this offer.

This is your chance to replace your old and obsolete equipment on favorable terms. Let us explain the details of this remarkable plan and tell you how to take advantage of it in equipping your farm with the new cost-reducing machines you need at a real saving.
